➤ Kennel Cough

Infectious Bronchitis- otherwise known as “Kennel Cough” is a very contagious disease of the respiratory system, which affects dogs of all ages. The disease is caused by a mixture of viruses and bacteria, which pass easily from dog to dog especially in boarding kennels.

Affected dogs typically develop a very harsh, dry, hacking cough, which can often last several weeks causing sleepless nights and worry for all concerned. The cough can be so severe that it often sounds as if the dog is choking. The dog may run a temperature, go off his or her food, and become quite lethargic- similar symptoms to human ‘flu’. Kennel cough can sometimes be fatal.

Kennel Cough can be prevented. We insist that your dog is vaccinated against Kennel Cough, and will insist on seeing the relevant paperwork before taking your pet. The vaccine is squirted up the nostril, rather than being injected under the skin on the neck. We recommend that the vaccine is given at least 1 to 2 weeks in advance of attending kennels.

Do not take any chances with Kennel Cough! Be sure to vaccinate your animal if you plan to board.

I UNDERSTAND THAT EVEN IF MY DOG IS VACCINATED AGAINST KENNEL COUGH (BORDETELLA), THERE IS A CHANCE THAT MY DOG CAN STILL CONTRACT KENNEL COUGH. I AGREE THAT I WILL NOT HOLD ALL GOD’S CREATURES GREAT AND SMALL RESPONSIBLE IF MY DOG CONTRACTS KENNEL COUGH. (Initials) _____
